extr@! English is a brand new television series that will help you learn English. It is the story of four young people who live in London. Three of them are English and one is from Argentina.

Two of the characters work for a television company, one is an actor and the other is a student. You will see them at work and play – they have fun, they fall in love, they break up, they argue – sometimes all on the same day! They meet some really unusual people and have amusing and incredible adventures.

There are 30 episodes of extr@! This workbook contains fun activities and exercises for episodes 1–15. Each TV episode is divided into three parts. There are four pages of Workbook activities, plus an extra page of grammar practice at the back of this book, to accompany each episode.

On Page 1 of each Workbook episode, there are three things you can do to help prepare to understand the programme:

1 So far in extr@ ...

Questions about events in previous episodes, to remind you of the story so far.

2 In this episode ...

Three photos to get you curious about the new episode.

3 Check the meaning ...

An exercise to help you with new vocabulary in the episode.

Turn to Pages 2 and 3, where there's a set of activities called:

4 Before you watch ...

This section has two parts, both of which help you to guess what's going to happen in this episode. Then you are ready to begin watching:

5 Part one ...

Watch the first part of show and see if you guessed right, and if you understood it all.

6 Part two ...

Now watch the middle section of the episode and check if you follow it.

7 Part three ...

Now watch through to the end of the episode and see if you understand it all.

8 In this episode ...

Put it all together – have you got the whole story now? Take the test to see.

Turn to Page 4 of each Workbook episode and there you will find:

9 Say something extr@!

This activity will help you to talk about the show and your own ideas.

10 extr@ email!

Finally, you can improve your writing in English, by sending emails just as the characters do in the extr@! TV programmes.

Language section

At the back of the book, there is a Language section, where you can practise new grammar items from each episode. And then there is a Word list to help you with difficult words.

We hope you enjoy extr@! It isn't like anything you've ever seen before! English lessons will never be the same.

- 7 No one in my family can _____
- 8 I don't know if anyone in my family can _____
- 9 My best friend can _____
- 10 I know someone who can _____

We can also use can / can't to show that it is possible or not possible to do something, often in the near future.

- I can meet you in the evening.
- I can't meet you tonight – I have to do my homework.
- Can you meet me today?

B Complete this chat room conversation with someone. You don't want to meet this person. Give excuses.

Chris: Hi, this is Chris. Remember me?
 You: Oh, yes ...
 Chris: I'd really like to meet you. Can you meet me tonight?
 You: No, I'm sorry _____
 Chris: OK, _____
 tomorrow night?

You: _____
 Chris: Oh. What about the weekend?

You: _____

2 Questions with would

Would is commonly used in polite requests and invitations.

- Would you do my washing for me?
- Would you mind doing my washing for me?

Note that the answer to a question beginning would you mind begins with no.

- No, not at all.
- No problem.

For invitations, we often use would you like (to) ... ?

- Would you like some water?
- Would you like to have some water?

Note that the positive answer to these questions is yes.

Complete these requests and invitations.

- 1 Would you _____
to the cinema with me tonight?
- 2 Would you _____
dinner with me?
- 3 Would you _____
for a walk in the park?
- 4 Would you _____
a little more quietly? I'm trying to sleep.
- 5 Would you _____
a cup of coffee for me?
- 6 Would you _____
outside for a few minutes? I'm rather busy.
- 7 Would you _____
the window for me?
- 8 Would you _____
a drink?

The present continuous with future meaning

We use the present continuous to talk about things which are happening now.

- What are you doing?
- I'm watching a DVD.

We can also use the present continuous to talk about immediate future plans:

- I'm seeing my friends tonight.
- Are you meeting Nick later?

Are these sentences about now or the future?

- 1 What on earth are you doing? Are you crazy?
- 2 I got the job on the internet. I'm waiting for confirmation.
- 3 What are you doing on our computer anyway?
- 4 Is he meeting her alone?
- 5 How's it going?
- 6 My boss is coming to dinner!

The going to future

We use going to to talk about our future intentions.

- I'm going to look for a job.
- I'm not going to study Russian.
- Are you going to make some coffee?

It's possible to say:

- I'm going to go to the cinema.

But you can also say it more simply:

- I'm going to the cinema.

Answer these questions about your immediate future plans.

- 1 What are you going to do this evening?
- 2 What are you going to do at the weekend?
- 3 What are you going to do on your next birthday?
- 4 Where are you going (to go) for your next holiday?
- 5 What are you going to study next year?

The will future

The will future has lots of meanings! Look at these two examples.

- Hector and I will prepare and serve a good dinner this evening.
- We will help you get your promotion.

Nick is talking about a definite future event. He is making a promise about something he will do in the future.

A Choose the best future tense to complete these sentences. More than one answer is possible in some cases.

- 1 I _____ visit my aunt this weekend
a) am going to      b) will
- 2 I _____ a coffee with my friends after the lesson.
a) will have      b) am having
- 3 The plane to London _____ at 6pm on Friday.
a) will leave      b) is going to leave
- 4 It _____ at Milan on the way.
a) is landing      b) will land
- 5 I'm not _____ English next year.
a) going to study      b) studying

B Is the future meaning in the sentences in A, an intention, an immediate future event or a definite future event?

In Episode 4, we talked about some of the uses of will. Here is some more information.

1 Definite events in the future

We use will to talk about definite events in the future.

- My face will be on your television every night at 6 o'clock in front of a huge audience.

And also for forecasting the weather.

- It will be hot in the south.

A Tick ✓ these sentences if they refer to things that will definitely happen (or NOT happen) in the future.

- 1 Hilary Clinton will be the next president of the United States.
- 2 I will do well at university.
- 3 The European Cup Final will take place in May next year.
- 4 Prince Charles will be the next King of England.
- 5 After Beijing, the next Olympic Games will take place in London.
- 6 It will be warm and sunny in Italy this summer.
- 7 Russell Crowe will win an Oscar next year.
- 8 It will rain every day next month in London.

B Can you replace will with may in any of the above sentences?

2 Offers

We also use will to make offers, especially when you make an instant decision to do something.

- It's very hot in here.
- I'll open the window.

Complete these conversations by offering to do something.

- 1 It's very cold in here.

- 2 There's someone at the door.

- 3 I'm feeling hungry.

- 4 I'm thirsty.

- 5 I'd like to read a newspaper.

- 6 I'm late for school.

3 Predictions

We can use will to predict something in the future. It is commonly used in advertising.

- This chocolate is so smooth it will melt a beautiful lady's heart.

Match the advertising slogans on the left with a future prediction on the right.

- |                                    |                                      |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 1 These pizzas are so delicious    | a) you will fall asleep on it!       |
| 2 This sofa is so comfortable      | b) you will want to eat two!         |
| 3 This train is so fast            | c) your hair will feel like silk!    |
| 4 These plane tickets are so cheap | d) you will arrive in half the time! |
| 5 This shampoo is so smooth        | e) you will want to take a friend!   |

The present perfect tense

We use the present perfect to talk about things that took place in the past, where the action itself is more important than when it happened. The actions can be quite dramatic!

- I've won the lottery!
- My lottery ticket has disappeared!
- I've lost your ticket, Bridget.

Complete the following conversation, using the words in brackets.

Annie: Bridget, you look terrible! What's the matter?

Bridget: (I / win / lottery)
_____!

Annie: So why are you looking sad?

Bridget: (My ticket / disappear)
_____!

Annie: Oh no! What's happened to it?

Bridget: (Hector / take / it / instead of / dry-cleaning ticket)
_____!

Annie: That's terrible. Where is he?

Bridget: (I don't know. I / not / see / him)
_____!

The present perfect with just

We use the present perfect with just to talk about things which happened very recently.

- I've just been to see Bridget.
- I've just found the ticket on Nick's bed.

Match the questions on the left with the answers on the right.

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 1 Why are you looking so pleased?              | a) I've just eaten it, sorry.            |
| 2 Why are you looking so shocked?              | b) I've just arrived.                    |
| 3 Where's the chocolate that was on the table? | c) I've just seen an accident.           |
| 4 How long have you been here?                 | d) He's just gone out.                   |
| 5 Have you seen Hector?                        | e) I've just been out with my girlfriend |

The present perfect with ever and never

We use the present perfect with ever and never to explain things that we have or haven't done in our whole lives.

- Have you ever won a prize?
- I've never heard of it.

Note the following answers to a Have you ever ... question. Note that the extra information in the yes answer is in the past tense.

- Have you ever won a prize?
- No, I haven't.
- Yes, I have. I won a trip to London when I was 17.

Answer these questions with Yes or No answers.

- Have you ever been to London?
_____
- Have your parents ever been to London?
_____
- Have you ever met a film star?
_____
- Have you ever driven a sports car?
_____
- Have you ever eaten Thai food?
_____

Reporting statements

You can use say, tell and ask to report what someone says. Note how the tense changes. Also note that after tell you need to mention who was told.

'My mother is my best friend.'

She said that her mother was her best friend.

'My mother treats me like a baby.'

She told me that her mother treated her like a baby.

'How was your flight?'

Bridget asked Chrissy how her flight was.

'Would you like a drink?'

Nick asked Chrissy if she would like a drink.

2 Phrasal verbs

A phrasal verb has more than one word: an ordinary verb, plus one or two other words. These other words are usually prepositions like up, and off, but are called 'particles'.

An intransitive verb doesn't have a direct object.

- They've split up.
- The plane took off.

A Complete the sentences with a suitable phrasal verb from this list.

break down    come in    go out grow up    sit down    wake up

- They had a problem when their car _____.
- She lives in Oxford but she _____ in London.
- I was very tired so I had to _____.
- I have to _____, I need some fresh air.
- He didn't _____ until midday.

Transitive phrasal verbs take direct objects. In these examples, you can't separate the two words of the verb.

- Look after my babies. (NOT Look my babies after.
The guinea pig is laughing at us.*

B Check the meanings of the inseparable phrasal verbs in this list. Then write a short conversation using at least three of them.

catch up with    get rid of    look at look forward to    run out of

---

---

---

---

With other phrasal verbs, you can separate the two words.

- I need to look up a word in my dictionary.
- I need to look a word up in my dictionary.

If the object of the verb is a pronoun (eg it), you must separate the two parts of the verb. I need to look it up. (NOT I need to look up it.)

C Rewrite these sentences. Change the underlined words to a pronoun (it, her, them) and put it in the correct position.

- I had to fill in a form before they allowed me to enter the country.
_____
- Yesterday, I picked up my sister at the airport.
_____

_____

1 Adjectives

Adjectives ending in -ed describe people's feelings or reactions to things.

- I'm completely exhausted.
- I'm not interested in soccer.
- She was amazed by the design of the building.
- I was frightened by a dog when I was a child.

A Make -ed adjectives from these words.

- 1 amusement _____ 2 disappointment _____
3 pleasure _____ 4 surprise _____ 5 terror _____

B Now complete the sentences with the adjectives you made and the ones in the box.

- 1 He makes me laugh. I am always _____ by his stories.
- 2 The horror film was very realistic. I was absolutely _____ by the aliens.
- 3 I was _____ not to receive a birthday card from you.
- 4 She was obviously _____ to meet Sam again.
- 5 I was _____ to see her – I thought she was in America.

Adjectives ending in -ing usually describe things but can also describe people. They describe the effect that something or someone has on you.

- My job is exhausting.
- Football isn't interesting to me.
- The lesson was boring.
- The design of the building is amazing.
- The dog was very frightening.

C Decide which adjective is correct in these sentences.

- 1 The movie was really frightened / frightening.
- 2 We were all frightened / frightening during the hurricane.
- 3 He's a really interested / interesting person.
- 4 They tried to sell me a car but I wasn't interested / interesting.
- 5 The result of the soccer game was disappointed / disappointing.
- 6 It's a very pleased / pleasing result.
- 7 Were you pleased / pleasing by the election result?

2 Can, be able to and be allowed to

Can is used in the present to talk about ability, possibility and permission.

- I can swim.
- When can we go on holiday?
- You can use my computer now.

If we want to talk about an ability or possibility (or lack of it) in the future, we can also use will / won't be able to.

- The girls won't be able to resist Nick!
- We'll be able to visit the museum when it opens.

To show permission (or lack of it) in the future, we can also use will / won't be allowed to.

- I won't be allowed to use his computer tomorrow.

Complete these sentences, using will/won't be able to or will be allowed to.

- 1 Remember, when you drive in France, you _____ to drive on the left!
- 2 I'm confident that I _____ to remember all these facts when I do the exam.

- 4 We're very lucky because when we visit the Parliament building, we _____ to enter the Prime Minister's office!
- 5 I _____ speak my own language in class when the new teacher comes next year.

Answer to the Speaking activity 1 on page 48.
The Spanish word for eyes is 'ojos.' The Spanish word for flat is 'piso.' And the Spanish word for to drink is 'beber.'

1 Question tags

Question tags are short questions at the end of sentences. If the main part of the sentence is affirmative, the question tag is negative. If the sentence is negative, then the question tag is affirmative.

- Argentina beat England, didn't they?
- You're English, aren't you?
- She doesn't smoke, does she?
- You didn't borrow my pen, did you?
- He'll come with us, won't he?

A Complete these sentences with the appropriate question tag.

- 1 Maria is Italian, _____?
- 2 Your parents aren't here, _____?
- 3 You like spaghetti, _____?
- 4 William and Kate will be here soon, _____?
- 5 Sandra can't drive, _____?
- 6 They aren't coming to the show, _____?
- 7 You didn't do your homework, _____?
- 8 You can get five in your car, _____?

Intonation: If it's a 'real' question and you don't know the answer, your voice rises on the question tag:

- Have you ever heard of Kurt Vonnegut?
- I'm not sure. He's a writer, isn't ↑ he?

If you are sure of the answer and are only asking for agreement, your voice falls on the question tag:

- I remember you! We've met before, haven't ↓ we?

B Complete the sentences, then put a ↑ if you think it is a genuine question, and a ↓ if you think the speaker is asking for agreement.

- 1 This food is wonderful, _____?
- 2 Ulan Bator? Er ... that's in Mongolia, _____?
- 3 Of course I know Arthur! We were at school together, _____?
- 4 Oh no! Please tell me! The policeman didn't see me, _____?

- 5 You've used one of these computers before, _____?
- 6 What was that noise? It was a knock at the door, _____?
- 7 Have you heard the weather forecast? It'll be sunny again tomorrow, _____?

2 Relative pronouns: who, which and that

who refers to people, not things; which refers to things, not people; that refers to things, and can also refer to people.

- There are some people who / that think that football is a matter of life and death.
- I need a hairstyle that / which a Spanish football fan will adore.
- Miguel is a man who / that lives in Barcelona.

You can't use that in sentences like these:

- Nick, who wants to be an actor, went to Birmingham for an audition.
- The car, which was stolen in London, belonged to Bridget.

In sentences like these, you can use a relative pronoun, but you don't need to.

- Miguel is the man (who/that) Bridget met in Spain.
- I lost the pen (that/which) I borrowed from Annie.

Complete these sentences using who, which or that. Write two answers if two answers are possible. Don't write anything if you don't need to use a relative pronoun.

- 1 She's the woman _____ works in Bar Gordo.
- 2 Channel 9, _____ is where Bridget works, is an independent TV company.
- 3 This is the present _____ I bought for Annie.
- 4 Hector; _____ comes from Argentina, is very rich.
- 5 This is the champagne _____ Eunice likes drinking.
- 6 The champagne, _____ is French, is very expensive.
- 7 Annie is the woman _____ Hector wants to marry.

1 The present perfect (2) with already and yet

See Episode 6 for examples of the present perfect with just, ever and never.

I've just found the ticket (= a few moments ago)

Have you ever been to Paris? (= in your life)

I've never been to Rome (= in my life)

In this episode there is an example of the present perfect with yet.

- Have you booked Westminster Abbey yet?

You use yet in questions or negative statements to show that you are expecting something to happen and you want to know if it HAS happened.

- Have you done your homework yet?
- Have you cleaned your room yet?

You use yet in negative sentences to show that something has not happened until now.

- I haven't done my homework yet.
- She hasn't cleaned her room yet.

A Complete these questions with ever or yet. Fill in one of the gaps only.

- 1 Have you _____ heard Britney Spears' latest song _____?
- 2 Have your parents _____ given you this week's allowance _____?
- 3 Have you _____ found your keys _____?
- 4 Has your brother _____ had long hair _____?
- 5 Have you _____ driven a Ferrari Testarossa _____?
- 6 Have you _____ been to a wedding at Westminster Abbey _____?
- 7 Have you _____ met a Hollywood movie star _____?
- 8 Has Annie _____ written to her friend about the wedding _____?

Already can refer to an action that was planned and has happened.

- What about the tickets?
- Don't worry, I've already bought them.

It can emphasise a past action that doesn't need to be repeated.

- My goodness! I've already drunk three cups of coffee today!

B Complete these conversations, using the words in brackets.

- 1 A: We need to buy some flowers!
B: It's alright – I (already buy)
_____
- 2 A: Where's your homework?
B: Sorry! I (not do yet)
_____
- 3 A: Annie and Hector aren't going to get married.
B: I know. Hector (already tell) _____ me.
- 4 A: Can I read your newspaper?
B: No, sorry. I (not read yet)
_____
- 5 A: Do you want another cup of coffee?
B: No, thank you. I (already drink)
_____ three!
- 6 A: When are you going to clean your room?
B: What do you mean? (already clean)
_____!
- 7 A: Have you got your allowance for this week?
B: No, My parents (not give yet)
_____
- 8 A: What did you think of Brad Pitt's new film?
B: I don't know. I (not see yet)
_____

1 Conditional sentences with if

There are many different forms of conditional sentences using if. In zero conditional sentences, all the verbs are in the present tense.

- If your name's not on the guest list, you can't come in.
- If he doesn't get me on the guest list, he is in big trouble!

First conditional sentences refer to the future. The verb in the if clause is in the present tense.

- I'll have one if you have one.

A Match the two parts of the sentences.

- |                                   |                              |
|-----------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1 If it rains tomorrow            | a) if I see him.             |
| 2 I'll give Robert the message    | b) we'll be late for school. |
| 3 If there isn't any pasta        | c) we won't go to the beach. |
| 4 If the bus doesn't arrive soon, | d) if you aren't a member.   |
| 5 You can't go into the club      | e) I can't cook dinner.      |

Second conditional sentences refer to things which are not possible or which are not likely to happen.

- If I were you, I wouldn't do that. (=This is not possible.)
- If your granny came to Ice and caused trouble, I would have to ask her to leave. (=This is not likely to happen.)

B Complete the missing part of the sentences.

- I haven't got any money. If _____, I would buy a new iPod.
- I'm not very tall. If _____, I would play basketball.
- My sister doesn't speak English. If _____, she would get a better job.
- I don't like cooking. If _____, I would make dinner for you.

2 Must be and must have been

Look at the two possible answers to the question and read the explanations.

- Who's the man in the black suit?
- He's the bouncer. (=You know this is the answer.)
- He must be the bouncer. (=You think this is the answer because nothing else seems possible.)
- Where's your friend?
- She's doing her make-up.
- She must be doing her make-up.

In the past tense use must have + the past participle.

- Where are the sandwiches?
- I left them behind. (=You know this is the answer.)
- I must have left them behind. (=You think this is the answer because nothing else seems possible.)

A Rewrite the answers to the questions using must be or must have + the past participle.

- Where's your sister?
She's on the dance floor. _____
- Why is Tony late?
He missed the bus. _____
- Who are those people over there?
They're friends of my father's. _____
- Where are your keys?
I left them in the car! _____

B Now complete the answers using the correct form of the verb in brackets.

- Where's the way out?
It must _____ (be) downstairs.
- I don't think we have met before.
You must _____ (be) Angela's friend.
- Why does everyone look so unhappy?
AC Milan must _____ (lose) the match.
- Why isn't Alex here?
He must _____ (forget) about the party.

1 Verbs which are followed by to

When verbs like want are followed by another verb, they are usually followed by to.

I want to see your chest.

It began to rain.

Nick is pretending to be someone different.

These verbs are also usually followed by to:

agree    continue    decide    expect    start forget    hope    intend    remember    try

Complete the sentences, using one of the verbs.

- (agree / try) Hector didn't _____ marry the girl from Argentina.
- (pretend / hope) Nick is _____ be Bridget's perfect boyfriend.
- (want / expect) Bridget _____ change Nick completely.
- (pretend / begin) Annie is _____ be the perfect girlfriend.
- (try / decide) Nick is always _____ work on television.
- (remember / forget) Annie _____ take an umbrella and got wet.
- (start / decide) When his mother arrived, Hector _____ cook a meal.
- (continue / intend) During the meal, Mrs Romero _____ ignore Annie.

2 Verbs which are followed by an object + to

This is common after verbs such as want, invite and tell.

- My father wants me to marry her.
- Can we invite her to have dinner with us?
- He told us to go away.

We can use these verbs in the same way:

advise    allow    ask    encourage expect    forbid    remind    teach

Put the words in the correct order to make questions. Then answer the questions.

- girl marry does Argentina Hector want to the from
_____?
- Annie forbidden Hector to marry has Hector's family
_____?
- to did tell Annie leave and Ziggy the farmer the field
_____?
- clothes Annie to did Bridget advise buy some new
_____?

3 So am I/so is she

So am I is a simple way to show that

- you agree with something or
- a situation is the same for two people.

- This girl is from a good family.
- So is Annie.
- I am going out now.
- So am I.

Match the comments on the left with the responses on the right.

- |   |                                   |                     |
|---|-----------------------------------|---------------------|
| 1 | Bridget lives in the flat.        | a) So will Annie.   |
| 2 | The girl from Argentina can cook. | b) So does Bridget. |
| 3 | She will make a good wife.        | c) So did Annie.    |
| 4 | She went to a good school.        | d) So does Ziggy.   |
| 5 | Nick lives in the flat next door. | e) So does Hector.  |
| 6 | Hector works for Channel 9.       | f) So can Annie.    |
| 7 | Annie loves animals.              | g) So does Annie.   |

Numbers refer to the episode in which each word is first used.
